Aggie Marriages

● On September 18, Evadeane Johns '48 became the bride of Rivers Young Gray. The young couple are now living in Logan where Mr. Gray is completing his studies at USAC.

On August 23 Donna Barker became the bride of Lee O. Hansen at the Logan LDS temple. The couple are making their home in Logan where Donna will teach at the Smithfield Junior High school while her husband completes his studies at the college.

Ollie Jean Neilsen '41 was recently married to Julian Work, a graduate of the University of Utah. The couple are making their home in Salt Lake City.

Robert Arnell '44 was recently married to Belva F. Larsen. They are making their home in Ogden, Utah, where Bob is a chemist at the Sperry General Mills.

The Idaho Falls LDS Temple was the scene of the wedding of Rhea Hurst '38 and Irvin E. Gardner, a BYU graduate, on November 26. Rhea has been employed as home furnishings specialist with the Extension Division at USAC. She received her M. A. degree at Cornell University, and has completed a mission in the northwestern states. Mr. Gardner is principal of the junior high school in Salem, Utah, where the couple will make their home.

Harris Van Orden '38 was recently married in Pelham, New York, to Eleanor Young, a graduate of the University of Utah. The couple are making their home in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Skeen Injured in Accident

D. A. Skeen '09, immediate past president of the Association and current member of the USAC Board of Trustees, was injured in a automobile collision in early November. Hospitalized for approximately two weeks, he is now finishing the job of recuperating at his home at 235 "A" Street in Salt Lake City.

In a recent visit with "D.A.", the Alumni Secretary found him going about the business of getting back on his feet in a cheerful frame of mind. His interest in the College and its welfare is just as intense as ever, perhaps more so, for Mr. Skeen explained that he had been giving a lot of thought to his alma mater.

During the visit, Mr. Skeen revealed a new grandchild had recently been welcomed into the family circle—a baby boy born on September 20 to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stein. Mrs. Stein is the former Eleanor Skeen '39. The family is making a home at 228 Village Lane, Boise, Idaho, where Mr. Stein is serving as Executive Secretary for the Tuberculosis Association of Idaho.

Utah State Pushes Building Program; Agriculture and Forestry Hall Heads List

"Building USAC is building Utah." With this as the theme, Utah State will ask the 1949 state legislature for funds to continue the construction program now under way.

First on the list of urgently needed buildings is the Agriculture and Forestry Hall, for which $950,000 is being requested, President Franklin S. Harris said. The structure is needed for two chief reasons. One is the great increase in enrollment since the war. The other is the flood of insistent demands from all over the state to solve problems encountered by farmers and homemakers. The research scientists of USAC require adequate facilities to pave the way for Utah's progress.

Also essential is a new Nursery School building at an estimated cost of $40,000. The present one, adapted from old residence, is outmoded and over-crowded. It occupies the site chosen for the proposed Union Building and must be removed.

Plans for a spacious Union are being developed by Architect Fred Markham of Provo, with ground breaking ceremonies set for this spring.

College officials will ask the legislature for $80,000 for major repairs in 1949-51.

High on the list of College needs is the Auditorium and Humanities building estimated to cost $750,000. The historic Main auditorium with its few hundred seats is adequate for some classes but is not at all large enough for the student body of today, when more than 4000 resident students throng the campus.

Other building requests follow: Stock judging and exhibit pavilion, $100,000; dairy husbandry building, $30,000; a sum to complete poultry units, $30,000; beef cattle barns, $50,000; engineering laboratory building, $500,000; library addition, $150,000; aeronautics testing structure, $15,000; meats laboratory, $50,000; fruit and vegetable storage, $50,000; greenhouses, $50,000.

Dr. Harris has set salary increases as his No. 1 problem in faculty welfare this year. He has hopes that the legislature will provide the funds necessary. Efforts are being exerted to show that costs of living, the necessity of holding a first-rate staff, and other factors require substantial raises if the institution is to meet the demands placed upon it by the state.

President Harris pointed out, however, that the new state law provides for regular appropriations on the basis of a "formula." Certain sums will be allotted according to enrollment and floor space weighted for such classifications as classrooms and laboratories. State employees are determined that the terms of the formula will be applied uniformly to all state-supported institutions of higher learning.

COVER PAGE: The November election indicated that the people of Utah, by a substantial majority, want Alumnus Heber Bennion Jr., '13, to carry on as Secretary of State. This is the first time he had run for that office, having been appointed to it previously by Governor Herbert B. Maw upon the death of Secretary Monson. As Secretary, Mr. Bennion will serve on both the USAC Board of Trustees and the U of U Board of Regents as an ex officio member. Mr. Bennion is the first USAC Alumnus to be elected to such a high post in Utah. Mrs. Bennion is the former Vera Weiler '13. They make their home at 711-9th Avenue, Salt Lake City.

Memo to Utah Aggies: "See Your County Agent"!

Extension Office Is College Headquarters In Your County

By John Stewart, Extension Editor

Aggie alumni and the Extension Service have a unique opportunity to be mutually helpful and add strength and dignity to the USAC.

Perhaps you buzzed or struggled through College without ever hearing of the Extension Service or Alumni Association. As a student on the campus you might not have become acquainted with the work of either organization. But as an alum, living out in the state, you should be engaged in the activities of these important divisions of the College.

USAC is really four institutions in one: the College proper, the Experiment Station, the Extension Service, and the Alumni Association. The strength of the College is dependent to a large degree upon the strength and cooperation of the Extension Service and Alumni Association.

Through its Extension Service the College has an office in every county of the state, except one (Daggett.) One or more faculty members of the College are stationed in each county, and others, stationed at the College, spend half or more of their time traveling throughout the state from county to county. These professors—known as county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents, and state extension specialists—are as much a part of the College as the English professor whose classes you enjoyed or cut. Their offices, in the county, close to where you live, are as much a part of the College as the bell in the tower of the Old Main.

Aggie Leaders Needed

So if you get homesick for your alma mammy drop into the extension office in your county and get acquainted with the agents—the "profs"—most of whom are also members of the Alumni Association to which you belong. The Extension Service needs the help of good Aggies—College trained men and women—to assist with its educational programs, as leaders of extension projects in the county. They in turn can help you.

Trained in agriculture and home economics, these Extension workers can aid you with your farming, homemaking and community problems.

They will supply you with College bulletins on various subjects.

If you want to sign up for a correspondence home study course or get an extension class organized in your locality, the county agents can give you full information and make the necessary arrangements.

Requests for lecturers, dramas, musical numbers, visual aids, and other College offerings should be made through your county agent.

The Extension Service has specialists in foods and nutrition, in recreation, sociology, home management, marketing, soil conservation, and many other agricultural, homemaking and community building subjects. The services of one or more of these specialists can be obtained by contacting your county agent.

A Junior Aggie Program

If you would like your son or daughter to enjoy the advantages that come from being in 4-H Club work, remember it is the College Extension Service that has charge of this vast educational program. Four-H'ers, you know, are young Aggies. There are 8,500 of them in Utah this year. Your county agent is in need of good, capable men and women to lead these clubs. They would be glad to have you help them.

There is no limit to the number of ways you can serve the College, and at the same time help yourself. Wide awake leaders are needed by the Extension Service in farm, home and community improvement projects that the Extension Service concerns itself with the year around—such projects as dairy herd improvement work, furniture reupholstery schools, fly control campaigns, soil conservation, etc.

Realizing that a strong Alumni Association is essential for a strong USAC, the Extension Service is anxious to cooperate in the formation of additional Alumni chapters throughout the state and in promotion of Alumni activities on a local and county basis. With cooperation of the alumni, the county offices of the USAC might serve as a spearhead for additional Association organization and activities.

Practically all extension workers are USAC graduates. Director of the Extension Service is Dr. Carl Frischknecht, class of 1924; assistant director for general administration is R. L. Wrigley, '11; assistant • "HOD" SANDERS . . . general chairman of Salt Lake City festivities on November 24.

Salt Lake Dinner Honors Athletes

Alumni and Aggie students reached a high pitch of excitement as the various events planned for the annual pre-Thanksgiving Day football program got under way Wednesday, November 24, in Salt Lake City. Starting out at 5 p.m. a parade of students and floats wended its way from Hotel Utah to the Newhouse Hotel. There at 6 p.m. the annual Utah State athletic banquet, honoring the football and basketball teams of 1935 and 1936, was held, with Professor Moyle Q. Rice '36, acting as master of ceremonies. Responses were heard from all the team members present, together with a brief resume of the history of the four teams by "Quig" Nielsen '38.

Supervising this year's traditional program in Salt Lake City was N. V. (Hod) Sanders '27 of Kaysville, who served as general alumni chairman of arrangements. He presided at the banquet.

Following the dinner, alumni and students joined together to dance until after 12 midnight. Cleo Petty '36 and his band furnished the music.

Members of the 1935 and 1936 squads in attendance were: Harold J. Hansen, Lloyd Elder, Harvey England, Karl Ferrin, Elmo Garff, Joe Whitesides, Dallas Greener, Dean Henderson, Joe Mabey, Tracy Maero, Cleo Petty, Cliff Poole, Willard Skousen, Floyd Slater, Shelby West, Bob Bunker, Ira Winger, Lawrence Mathews, Shirley Jackson, Floyd Rasmussen, and Rollie Gardner.

1949 Class Reunions Coming Up

It isn't too early for USAC graduates to begin thinking of returning to the campus on next June 2nd and 3rd for class reunions and the College Commencement activities. This year alumni in the classes of 1944, 1939, 1934, 1929, 1924, and any other classes which might wish to, will observe their graduation anniversaries.

The Alumni Office plans to assist again where ever possible in making the necessary arrangements for dinners, etc. If you are a member of any of the classes listed above, or of other classes which should be meeting this year, please drop a note to the Alumni Secretary. Your suggestions will be very much appreciated.

Aggie Football Squad Finishes Fourth

With their suits finally turned in after a 11 game football schedule, Utah State gridgers could look back upon a season which placed them in fourth place in the Skylix Six conference. Wins were scored over BYU and Wyoming, but losses were sustained at the hands of Colorado A. & M., Denver and the University of Utah.

Non-conference games ended with the Farmers scoring wins over Montana State, Montana University, and Arizona State, with losses to Wichita University, and San Diego State.

University of Utah took first place in the conference, Colorado A. & M., second; Denver, third; BYU, fifth; and Wyoming, despite a better than average team, landed in the cellar with five losses out of five starts.

Aggie Grads and Former Students Included in State Legislature

A considerable number of the members of the 1949 Utah Legislature are either USAC graduates or former students of the college. These include the following five in the Senate: L. Rulon Jenkins, Weber County; Rue L. Clegg, Salt Lake; B. Manning Jolly, and David H. Jones, Utah; and Orrice C. McShane, Beaver County.

Aggies in the House of Representatives are: LeRoy D. White, Box Elder County; Cyril K. Munk and John A. Murch, Cache; Lawrence B. Johnson, Rich; Edward C. Larsen, Weber; Thomas M. Rees, Salt Lake; Ernest H. Dean and Henry C. Roberts, Utah; J. R. Bagnall, Sanpete; LeRoy B. Smith, Millard; E. Ray Lyman, Iron; Wayne Hinton, Washington; and Leland A. Mayers, Daggett County.

• JOE WHITESIDES '36 . . . Aggie basketball coach.

Basketball Takes Spotlight at USAC

Coach Joe Whitesides '36 ushered in his second year as head of the hoop sport at Utah State with a 47-39 win over Idaho State College before a turnout of some 3300 fans in the Aggie fieldhouse on November 29. It was a ragged game and indicated that the Farmer aggregation would have to do some fast polishing up if it expected to win its share of 10 conference games scheduled beginning January 6.

The Aggie team participated in a two night show in Salt Lake City December 3 and 4. The first night the Farmers played Oregon State and lost, but came back the next night to win by one point over Idaho University.

USAC Branch At Cedar City Meet Southern Utah Needs

By Richard M. Rowley, BAC Publicity Department

Many significant milestones have marked progress at Branch Agricultural College in the past months, in the form of a stronger faculty, physical plant and new community-college relationships. Fine cooperation between the two centers of USAC—north and south—has made possible many of these gains.

Most important is the addition of enough upper division work at BAC to make a full, well rounded program in elementary education. Beginning with commencement in 1949, the bachelor of science degree from the college will be conferred in elementary education for the first time at BAC. Related subjects in liberal arts are also being offered to bolster the education training program and the already approved agricultural offerings in the three fields of agronomy, animal husbandry, and agricultural economy.

A new field house, modern and spacious, is well on the way toward completion, as is the new heating plant and the college commons building. Additional space in this building provides quarters for students during off hours in the form of a soda fountain, lounge, student offices, darkroom facilities, a book store and a large cafeteria. The cafeteria area, with tables and chairs out of the way, makes an ideal spot for small parties, also.

New apartments have been added to the women's dormitory, and ex-

EDITORS NOTE: On December 12, the B.A.C. suffered a second major fire in its fifty-one year old history, when its library building was damaged to the extent of $200,000, in a fire which broke out in the attic of the building and destroyed the entire third floor.

tensive improvements have taken place in the men's dormitory.

A new rapport between the college and the communities it serves has also been achieved, particularly in the area of education.

A council of superintendents of schools of the southern area now sits in with the administration and faculty at BAC and Dean of the School of Education at USAC in planning and carrying out the teacher training program. The schools of Cedar City are also cooperating fully in making their schools rooms and staffs available for assistance in training elementary teachers. Dr. E. A. Jacobsen has kept particularly close note of progress in this field.

In other areas there has been a new exchange of ideas. Since BAC has been made a residence training center new emphasis has been placed on extension courses and better community service. In the field of agriculture also, USAC deans and department heads have worked with BAC faculty members in improving the program to serve better the agricultural needs of the area.

Further progress is in the making with plans going forward for the addition of an R. O. T. C. unit for the southern branch.

Letters To The Editor

●From Dona Smith Holdsworth '48

339 Vine Street
Menlo Park, Calif.
November 24, 1948

Dear Mr. McDonald,

Stanford University seems to be the gathering place for Aggie Alums this year. Going to church in Palo Alto is like going to the Institute. To name a few we always see:

Loila and Des Anderson
Gay and Mae Caldwell
Jean and Boyde Christensen
Joe Anderson
Louis Hickman
Ferris Hillyard and others

Loila and I are both teaching in towns not far from Palo Alto and we enjoy it very much. That is, most of the time—Utah has no corner on "difficult children."

It is so interesting to be near a college campus. Stanford does everything in a big way. It was quite a thrill last Saturday to see Stanford's traditional "Big Game" at Berkeley. We were just two of 85,000 people who saw Stanford hold mighty Cal. to a 7-6 victory.

We're looking forward to Christmas in Cache Valley.

Sincerely,

Dona C. Smith Holdsworth '48
